12. Currently, many parents across Oklahoma use a tax credit scholarship to send their child to a faith-based independent school. There is an effort to prevent parents from using their scholarship at a faith-based school unless that school agrees to submit to the state government's accreditation process.

Do you support or oppose this effort that would prevent parents from using their scholarship at a faith-based school unless that school agrees to submit to the state government's accreditation process. [ROTATE 1-4 TOP TO BOTTOM]

Making sure independent schools are adhering to state government rules and procedures	40%

18. And, as a reminder...

Legislation has been proposed in Oklahoma that would require private and faith-based schools to submit to the state's accreditation system in order to serve students who receive education scholarships. Critics say this would effectively result in a government takeover of private education - forcing independent schools to follow the same rules, bureaucracy, and oversight as public schools.

If this legislation passed, how concerned would you be? [ROTATE 1-4 TOP TO BOTTOM]
